To verify that you're at the right file offset, and that the yupdctr.exe file isn't some newer version, you should see E8 C1 E8 bytes before the 0A byte. If not, then your yupdctr.exe file is different and this patch won't work until I get a new yupdctr.exe file and find the proper file offset again. Change the 0A byte to 09 and save the file. You're good to go.

We also use results from the 0A matrix model to predict the next to leading order contribution to the entropy of the black hole. Finally, we note that the black hole is characterized by a Hagedorn growth in its density of states below the Hagedorn temperature. This, together with other results, suggests there is a phase transition at this temperature.
